Saint Augustine Music Hall of Fame Announces 2020 Inductees

3rd Annual Induction Class Announced

The St. Augustine Music Hall of Fame (SAMHOF) has announced this year's class of inductees.

The 2020 honorees are:

Tommy Bledsoe, James "Chico" Dennis, The Mad Hatter Band, The Seiners, Pat Murphy, Colleen Murphy, and Bill Parker. Parker has received this year's "In The Biz" honor, recognized for his lifetime of support to the local music scene.

Inductees are finalized by an astute SAMHOF committee consisting of local musicians, historians, and industry professionals. This year's final committee included founding members Walt Kulwicki and Dave Kosciolk, along with Bill Sabo, Elizabeth Roth, and Tommy Bledsoe. Additionally, input was considered from other part-time committee members, local musicians, past inductees, and voting by the general public via online solicitation voting.

In lieu of current social distancing and crowd requirements for live events, plans are currently underway for a safer and compliant alternative to previous year's events. Please follow the St. Augustine Music Hall of Fame on Facebook for announcements on this year's, and future year's celebrations and events.

ABOUT SAMHOF

The SAMHOF was created to recognize the rich musical history of America's oldest city. Nominees were not eligible to vote for themselves. Read more at www.samhof.com. The committee looks forward to welcoming additional contributors, sponsors, and members in 2021.
